My wife will get pissed.
C'mon, don't be so stingy!

In any case, let's just focus on getting home from this war in one piece
Why did you spare us?

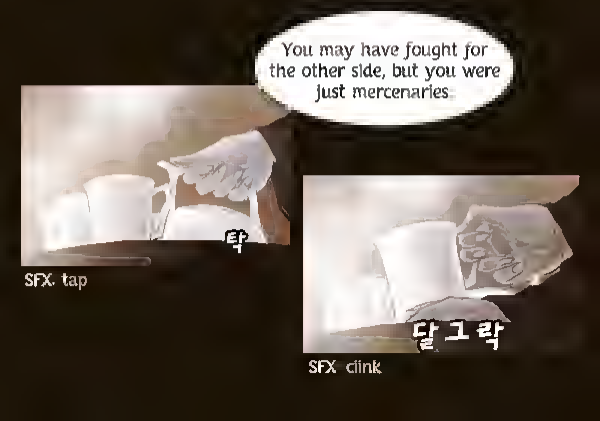
I was impressed by your skills



You may have fought for the other side, but you were just mercenaries.
탁
SFX: tap
달그락
SFX: clink

It would be a shame to let such skill die in a place like this

SFX rattle

What do you mean?

In other words, the allied Arman and Nordon army cannot break the Wall between Continents west of Teodore.

At this point the battle is as good as won by Teodore

It doesn't look like you have enough manpower to hold off the allied army

Aren't you just barely holding your ground?

You know nothing. My orders are not to defeat the forces in front of this castle

From the beginning, it was to hold off the forces coming from their victory at Sebrino and Belle.

This Wall is important because without it, Arman cannot send its army into Teodore by land

If they start a war against Teodore before securing this stronghold they will have to watch out for enemies coming from their rear as well, so they need it no matter what.

While I was defending this place, Teodore supplied more soldiers to Sebrino and Belle Mm.. This is good!
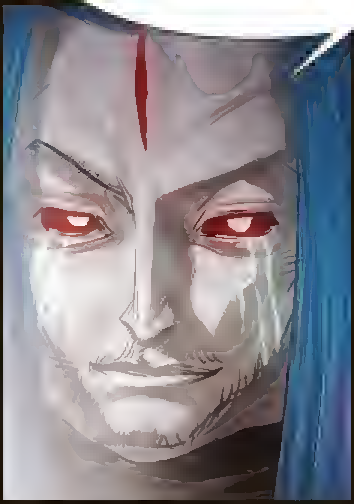
And I received news yesterday that the two cities are under our control
Parts of the allied forces already in Teodore can no longer receive the relief troops that were coming through Sebrino and Belle

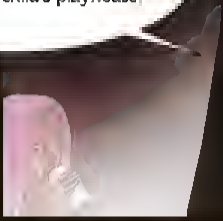
Hearing the news, the allied generals came at this castle full force but we sucessfully repelled their attack.

It is just a matter of time before their morale falls



The allied Arman and Nordon Army is presumably under heavy pressure right now because their escape route has been blocked.

The Wall of Continents, the West Gate, is a fort that makes this one look like a child's playhouse.



Arman armies cannot come here by land.

The allied forces cannot attack or even freely escape anymore

If we attack the allied forces with additional troops coming to us from Belle

They will have no choice but to retreat to the South

The allies will try to get help from Arman from the South

But in the end, they will be slaughtered by Teodore forces coming up from Sebrino

GULP

We were led to believe that Arman and Nordon's allied forces had the upper hand?

It is very important to control information. In a large scale war like this, morale plays a big role

If soldiers knew that Sebrino and Belle were being attacked, it would hurt their cohesion, so the generals make sure the information doesn't get out to the rank and file

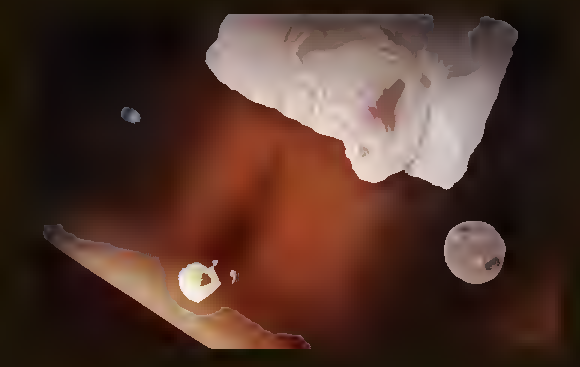
And I...
I let a rumor spread that we were not faring well inside this castle to hold the allies here
But there is no longer need.

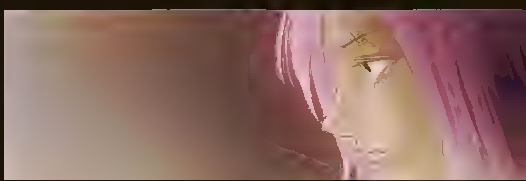
The news of Sebrino and Belle's defeat against Teodore will spread quickly throughout the allied forces.

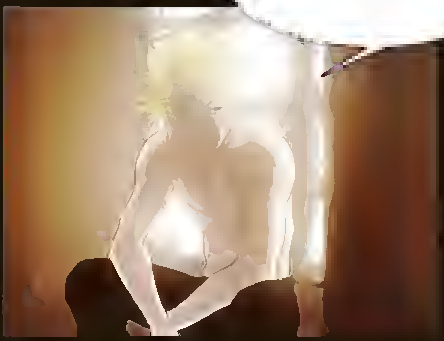
That news will drop the morale of the soldiers who have been barely holding out here for a month to rock bottom.

I can already feel the fear in soldiers who have heard that the Teodore army is coming South

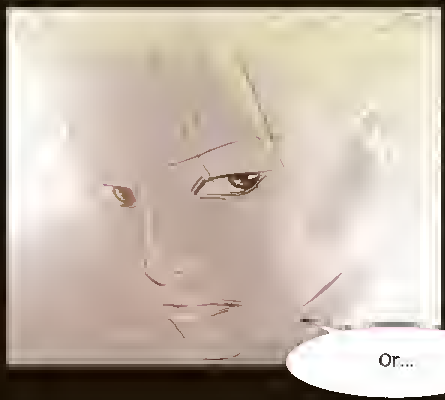
If we gain the upper hand in this battle we will be able to easily defeat other cities in Arman







Are you saying you will buy us for this chase?



Or...

No.

I have no intentions of using you in meaningless battles.

And I definitely do not mean to hire you

Become my subordinates.

I want to use you two for something much bigger.

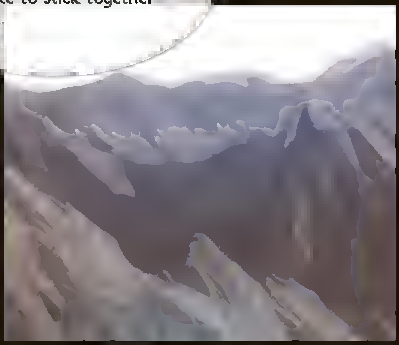
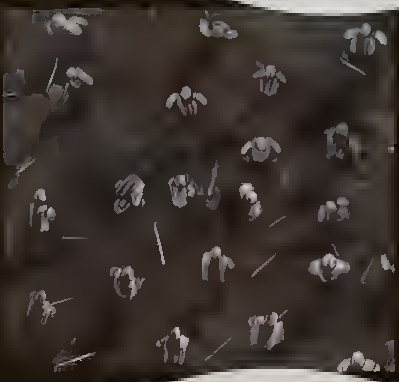
Episode 12 - Edin (26)

Because humans are weak they like to stick together



They long for unity, living together in only a fraction of this vast universe because they are weak

They often start wars and kill one another, but the real purpose of war...

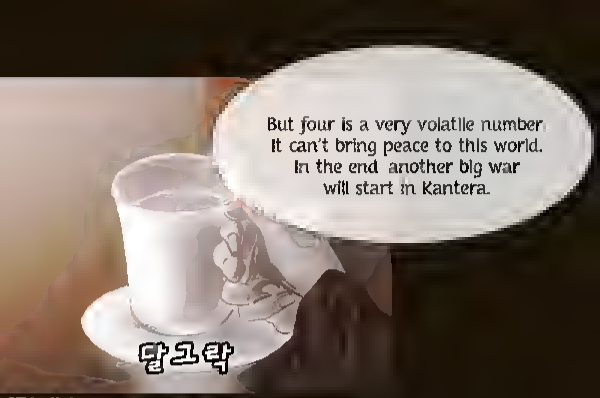


...is to carve out a larger sphere of protection for themselves

SFX: step

Only four countries have survived in the continent of Kantera: Teodore, Armand, Marcia, and Versmann

Countless countries have risen and fallen, but now only those four remain



But four is a very volatile number.
It can't bring peace to this world.
In the end, another big war
will start in Kantera.
달그락

SFX: clink

And at the end of the war, the continent will become one

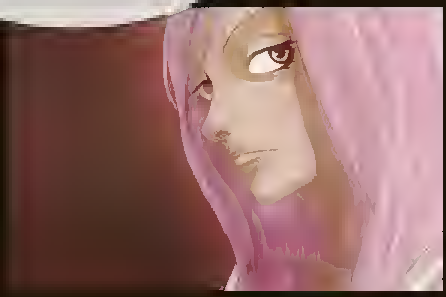
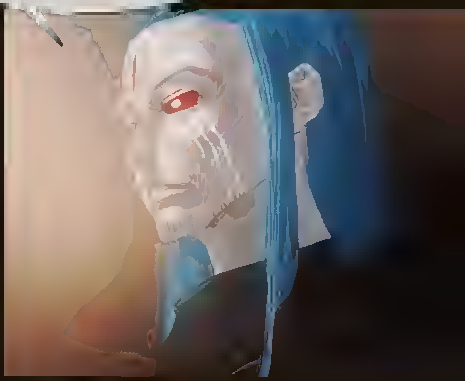
This change cannot be stopped.
I am giving you two a chance.

The chance to serve on the front lines those who will bring about this great change

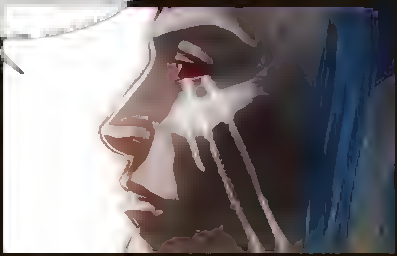


Who do you think is worthy to unite this world?

He must be strong. But that cannot be all. He needs something other men do not have.



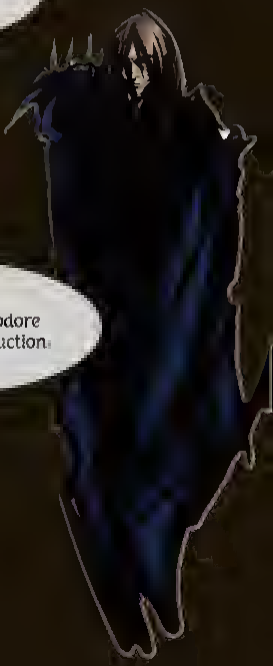
He needs power and the time to control and stabilize the whole continent.



Someone who can live as long as the gods do

Teodore used to be a weak country. There were frequent raids and invasions, and it feared the changes taking place in neighboring countries
But something happened 300 years ago that changed Teodore's fate

It was the appearance of Edermask.



Edermask drove Teodore to the brink of destruction.

But then, another man appeared.
My master, Janus-nim
Within the next few years,
Janus-nim turned Teodore into a powerful nation that other countries could not look down upon.
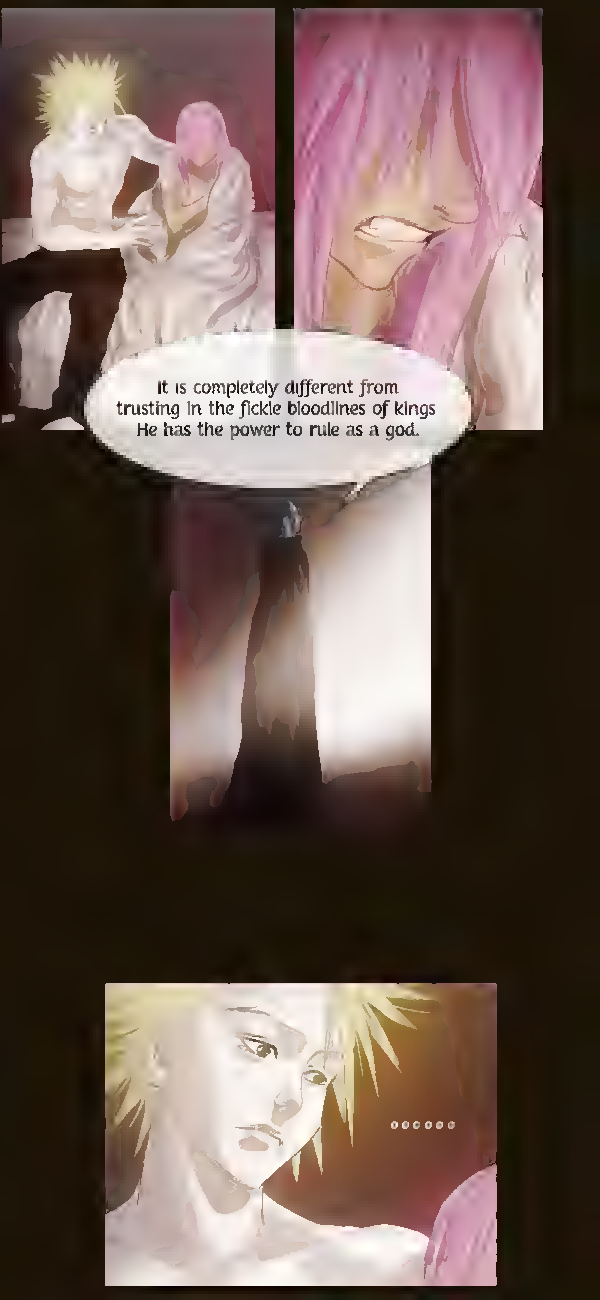
Ah!

He has all the time in the world

Ah...

Are you okay?



It is completely different from trusting in the fickle bloodlines of kings
He has the power to rule as a god.

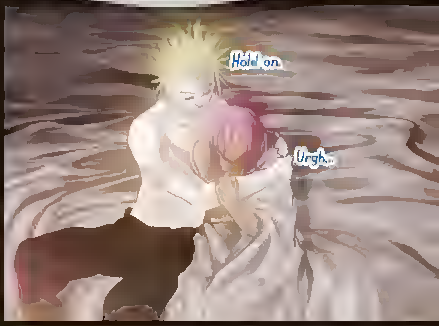
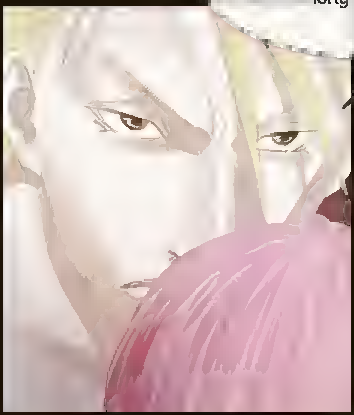
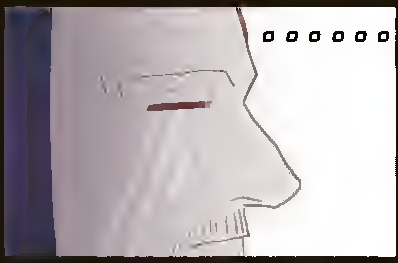
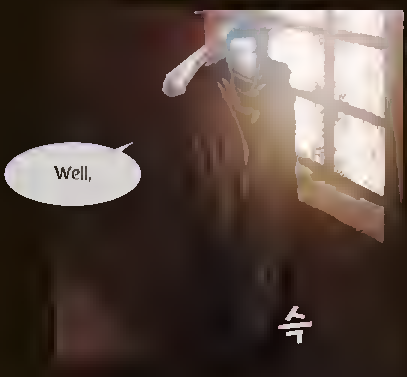
He has the ability to rule the world forever with immutable ideals



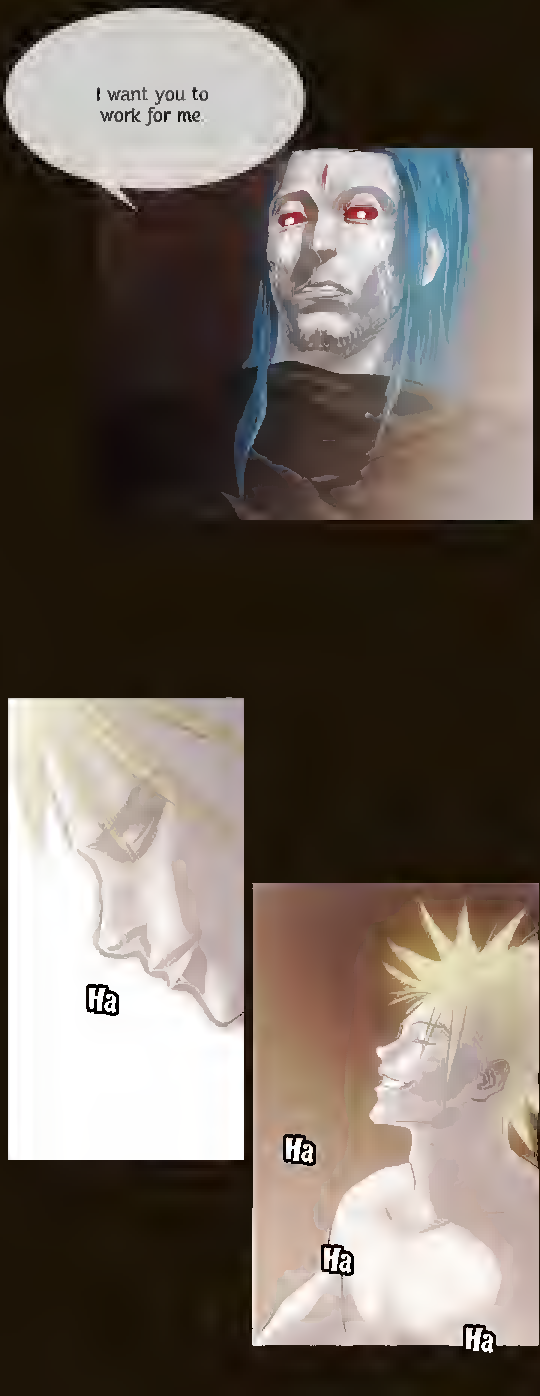
You've blabbered on long enough







SFX: turn



I want you to work for me
Ha
Ha
Ha
Ha

Ha

Ha

I don t see how it s so different from living as a mercenary in a battle like this

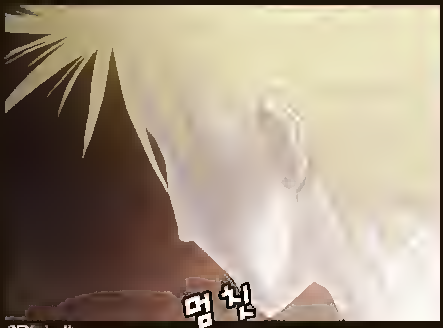
If that's all...
Can you stand?
We have no reason to stay here



SFX: halt

No.
I'm sick of being a pawn in the higher-ups power struggle
Because of that stupid ideal, they don't even take care of their people
I have no intention of becoming a mercenary, or even of holding a sword, ever again

We're going to the Forest of Elma to live quietly and forget about the war.
I picked up a sword because the path here was a battlefield. I never wanted to become a warrior. My sword has only brought me sadness and emptiness.

You cannot stop the change
HAA...
끄응
The Forest of Elma will soon become just another battlefield
SFX jiinch

Then we'll just move to another place where there is no war.

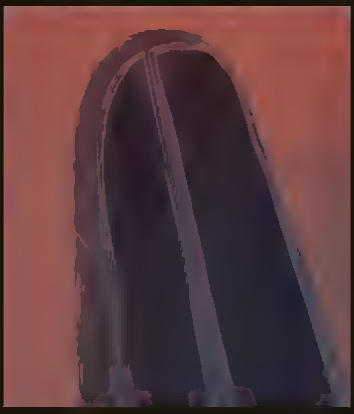
What're you talking about...?

We set foot in the Reaper's castle once more after a year. It was shut tight during the war, but this time, it welcomed us silently.



The Reaper greeted us mutely. He was cautiously saving his words.

As we walked the halls, he started telling us about our job and our duty.

We first went through months of training to be qualified for our jobs. During this training, I found that I was gifted with magical abilities, and it did not take long for me to leave my sword behind.

Along with our training, we were soon carrying out real missions, and these experiences continued to hone my abilities. We were slowly molded into the weapons they needed.

Korean Honorifics Lesson!

Nim - A formal way of addressing someone typically older and/or more respected than you

Ssi - A formal way of addressing someone you do not know or are unfamiliar with

Nuna - A friendly way of addressing an older woman near your age if you're a guy
Nunim - A more respectful way to say nuna

Hyung – A friendly way of addressing an older man near your age if you're a guy

Unni - A friendly way of addressing an older woman near your age if you're a girl

Oppa - A friendly way of addressing an older man near your age if you're a girl
Oppa is also used (though not synonymously) by girls addressing their boyfriends

Ajumma - Older woman typically aged between mid/late 30's ~ early 50s. Calling someone younger than mid 30's this is rather offensive

Ajussi – Older man typically aged between mid/late 30's ~ early 50s. Korean men, especially those in their 30s, prefer to be called hyung/oppa by those younger than him rather than Ajusshi

Sunbae - Is used to address senior colleagues or mentor figures, e.g. students referring to or addressing more senior students in schools

Hubae - Is used to refer to juniors. However, the term is not normally addressed to them directly, and is mainly used in the third person.
This is nearly identical in Japanese with Senpai/Kohai honorifics

Naeuri - Was used by commoners in the Joseon Dynasty to refer to people of higher status but below "His Excellency"

Seonsaeng - Commonly translated as "teacher", has much more formality and is used to show respect to the addressee. It is related to the Japanese honorific "sensei" and shares the same pair of Chinese characters representing 'mister' or one born earlier. (literal)

It's about time you learn them!

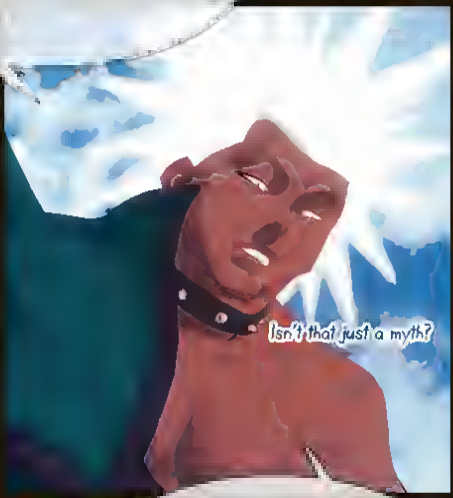
That was lucky.

I didn't believe it, but Edermask really must have the spell of eternal life!

He hasn't changed at all from a hundred years ago.

But isn't it an exaggeration that he can demolish or save a country?

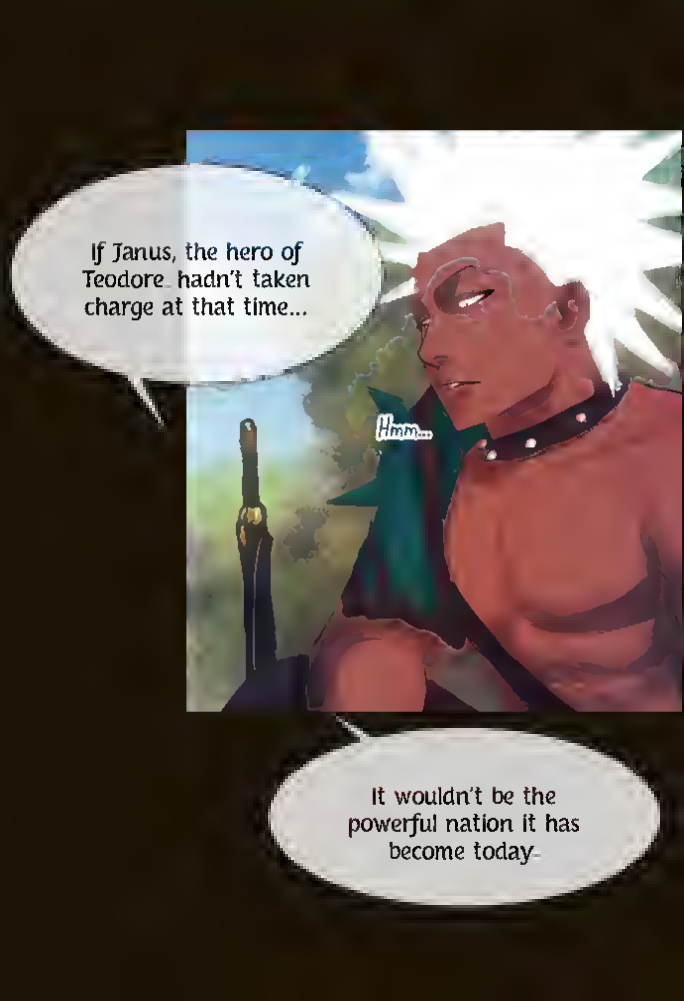


How can one person have that kind of power?

You're so clueless. Do you need another history lesson?
The continent of Kantera is being controlled by magic right now. What do you think that means? The country with the strongest magical power has the strongest influence.

And in that era when armies fought each other with magic...

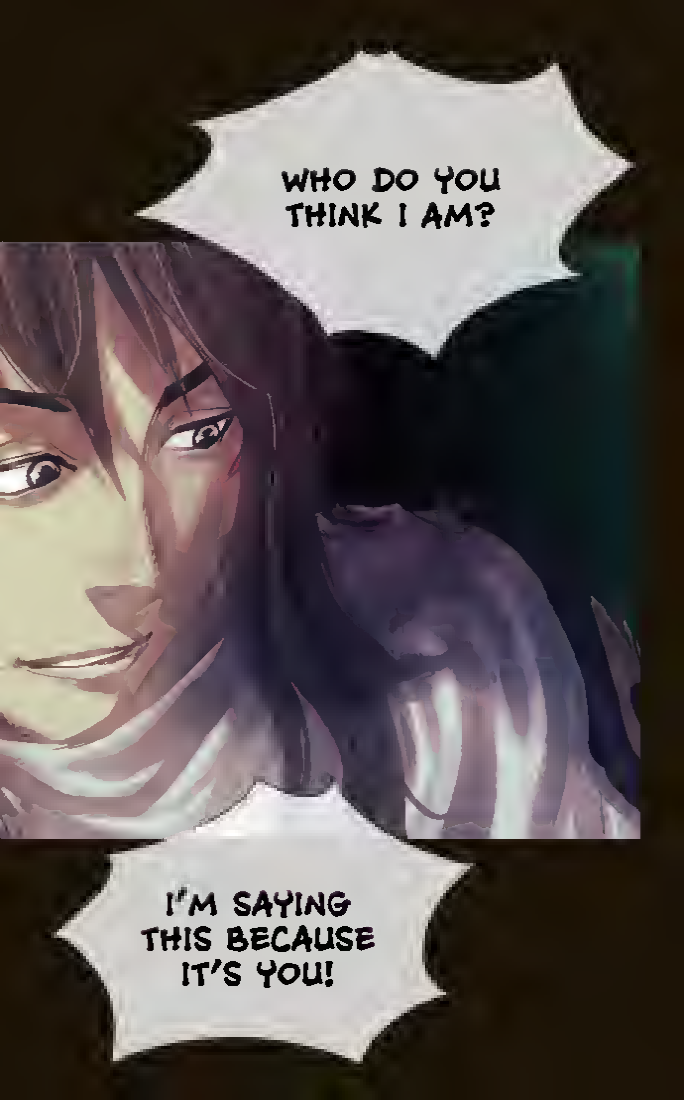
Edermask appeared and started to eliminate magicians and Teodore was hit by a big crisis because they were in the middle of a war.



If Janus, the hero of Teodore hadn't taken charge at that time...
Hmm...
It wouldn't be the powerful nation it has become today.

Well, rumor has it that Janus also has the power of eternal life, and still exerts his influence on the country. But there's no way to prove this.

Anyway, Edermask shook the whole continent in his day. You can't let your guard down.



WHO DO YOU THINK I AM?
I'M SAYING THIS BECAUSE IT'S YOU!

Hey!
Is that him?

Why did it take you so long to poop?

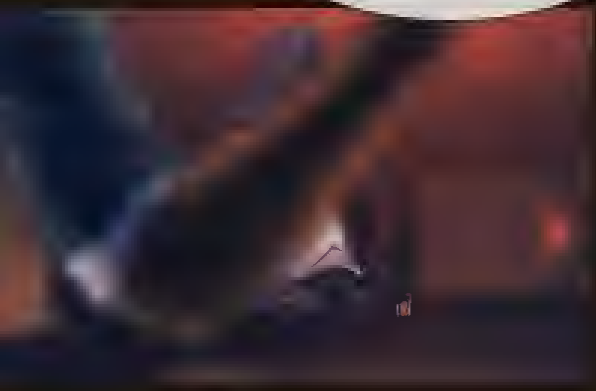
The King of Teodore wants your power.

We do not care about your existence. We have no interest in capturing you

The one who wants you captured is Janus. He is the only one who is obsessed with your capture



So what is it that you want?

Hmm...
I finally made another appearance. Let me talk some more...

King Edwin is King of Teodore, but he's not the one calling the shots.

Janus is the one in charge.
But a country doesn't need two rulers.

We only want one thing. We want you to help us get rid of Janus.
GLANCE
That's why I took the risk of coming here.

And I will tell you something interesting you might want to hear...
